Paragraph summary of current status of project

Calendar/timeline outlining the stages of your project

Since the projects are very different, you will first need to identify what you see as the major stages. Everyone will have a preliminary stage in which you identify your conception of the project and its tasks. It may be that it is similar to models you've used for a paper:

Information gathering and research identification of resources needed

Proposal /summary of project (concepts, accomplishments, documentation format)

Timeline with deadlines for stages/tasks of project

Final draft of project envisioned & its presentation format determined
